Philosophical discussion: move toward a more positive approach to use by crafting a responsible use policy and a suite of related policies; student at the center

"All learners will have the tools, experience and creative frameworks necessary for authentic learning within a community context." (brainstormed at Future Ready Conference)

Start slow then ramp up quickly...DOE

Brainstorm the elements of a suite of policies which we mapped - innovation, collaboration, critical thinking, creativity, contribution (adding value)

- responsible use
- BYOT
- Cyber-bullying
- Digital literacy
  - o standards; proficiency
- Digital citizenship -ethics
  - o social media
  - o copyright/plagiarism
- District provision - commitment to provide resources; provision for instruction
- Privacy
- Safety
- Parent Involvement
- Community access
- Staff monitoring
  - o professional agency
- No expectations of privacy
- Filtering - just enough
- FERPA - data confidentiality
- Electronic records

SAMR model for teachers to evaluate how they are using technology in their classroom- substitution, augmentation, modification, redefinition

Prep for the Tech meeting - 3/12 in the board room 3:30 to 5:00
- stretch the vision of the thinking of the use of technology; from piecemeal to holistic approach
- understand the shift from acceptable to responsible use
  - why the shift is positive and why districts are going in that direction
- talk about how to shift from deployment to the instructional focus
  - What are people doing with technology now?
- the future of the committee, its structure, composition and responsibility

Technology committee meets only monthly; hasn't been great participation or work time.
This year earlier was very specific work around adoption of new devices and very concrete discussions.
Might need a refresh for the committee focus for rest of this year and next.

Current Policy Framework - making sure we have coherence and either use the current framework or envision a different approach

- Board of Directors
- Instruction
- Student
- Community Relations
- Personnel
- Management Support

Next meeting 3/24/15 at 3:30 at District Office
